Keyes Declares It Would Be Met By Filibuster

(Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, March 2—The department of justice investigators will be sent immediately to Georgia and other states to investigate the increased cost of fertilizer and to determine if a "fertilizer trust" exists. The Attorney General today notified Senator Harris, democrat, of Georgia who complained to the department.

Senator Harris declared he had received numerous complaints from Southern farmers that fertilizer had been uniformly increased $5 a ton. Coming at this season of the year, when the farmers are purchasing fertilizer for spring planting, Senator Harris said the increase worked a hardship on Southern agriculture and amounted to several million dollars in Georgia alone.

The Georgia senator referred the complaints to the department of justice and agents will be sent out to learn if the increase is the natural result of the law of supply and demand or is fixed by agreement between the producers.

(Associated Press)
NEW YORK, March 2—Ready to rot in jail in defense of his ideals Gutzon Borglum, sculptor, is preparing for the "Fight of his life" in connection with the Stone Mountain Confederate Memorial which he said should be completed because it is the greatest project of the sort ever conceived.

He admitted last night on his return from Atlanta that he had destroyed his models and plans after his dismissal by the officials of the Stone Mountain Memorial association. For this he had been arrested at Greensboro, N. C., on a warrant charging vandalism and malicious mischief.

"I destroyed the temporary models for the greatest piece of sculpture in the world's history, because I believe in the right of an artist to his own creations. I am ready to rot in jail rather than yield this principle.

"Let the small provincial minds of my enemies contemplate the work of stone cutters, or shoemakers, if they wish. I am ready for a fight."

WASHINGTON, March 2—Prohibition enforcement officers can lawfully stop and search an automobile without a warrant, the supreme court decided today. The decision, which upheld the ruling of the lower court, was on appeal brought by John Kiro and George Carroll.

CAPPER-HAUGHEN BILL IS SUBSTITUTED

Dickinson Measure Is Lost in Committee Of the Senate

(Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, March 2—The senate agriculture committee voted today to substitute the Capper-Haughen co-operative marketing farm bill for the Dickinson measure, passed last week by the house.

The substitute follows the recommendations of the president's agricultural conference and would provide for regulatory federal control of co-operative marketing organizations upon voluntary requests of the organizations.

The house bill would have merely provided for an advisory board and council on co-operative marketing. The committee vote was seven to six. The Dickinson bill was assailed before the committee on Saturday by Chairman Carey of the conference.

DRESS UP CHORUS GIRLS TREND OF THEATRES NOW, PLATT SAYS

Some one a few years ago started the style of leaving off a few more articles of clothing of the regulation costumes of chorus girls. The trend is just the opposite now, declares Harry Platt, manager of the Keystone Folies.

"The fully dressed chorus girl is the rule, rather than the exception" he said. "Just as styles in everything else change, so do styles in theatrical productions undergo variations. Shortened skirts and abbreviated costumes for chorus girls, followed the abbreviation for street costumes or the other way around, but long skirts on the stage are now the vogue."

CONGRESS THOUGHT TO HAVE FINISHED RECORD OF SESSION

Appropriation Measure And Minor Bills Only Remain

SHOALS ACT IS IN LEGISLATIVE JAM

Farm Legislation Also Facing Failure Of Adoption Now

(Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, March 2—With the prospect of only remaining appropriation measures and minor bills squeezing through the legislative jam before adjournment at noon Wednesday, the 68th congress probably has already written its record in enactment of major legislation.

The one important bill on which leaders expect to get final action in the waning hours of the session is the rivers and harbors authorization bill, which went to conference for adjustment of scores of amendments, after its passage Saturday by the senate.

Important measures which appear doomed to failure include the Underwood Muscle Shoals leasing bill, the Crampton measure to re-organize the prohibition unit, the McFadden banking bill and farm legislation to carry out recommendations of President Coolidge's agricultural conference.

The senate agriculture committee was meeting today to report a farm relief bill, but with administration leaders and members of the farm bloc disagreeing as to what form the legislation should take, its chances of enactment seemed remote.

While day and night sessions are on the program for both the senate and house before adjournment, leaders are convinced that efforts to put through any of the important administration measures would be futile.

Goodwin Teaches Bible Class Lesson

The Y. M. C. A. Men's Bible class met Sunday morning at 8:20 o'clock in the absence of President Garren, Thomas Hodson presided. Prayer was offered by Rev. Noble R. Edwards and reports were received from the committees.

The class was taught by Rev. L. F. Goodwin, a beautiful lesson from Roman's 15th chapter. In reviewing the book, Rev. Goodwin said God taught brotherly love. "Man is subject to sin" he said, "but God is ready to forgive."

The attendance included 21 members of the Blue team and 27 members of the White team.

(Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, March 2—By a vote of 173 to 3 the house today adopted a resolution declaring "it is the sense" that President Coolidge should appoint a commission to study the Muscle Shoals problem.

WASHINGTON, March 2—All prospects of getting Muscle Shoals legislation enacted at this session disappeared today when managers of the conference report on the Underwood leasing bill, agreed not to attempt to call up the report for senate consideration.

Managers of the measure declared today it would only be a waste of time to bring the report before the senate as a group of senators are prepared to filibuster against a vote on the report.

Chairman Keyes of the senate conference, said: "There is a small group of senators that are determined not to have any Muscle Shoals legislation at this session and with only a few hours remaining, it would be folly to attempt to get the report adopted."

SEVEN CONFIRMED ST. JOHN'S CHURCH

Bishop McDowell Is Strong In His Sermon

The Rt. Reverend William G. McDowell, D. D. Bishop coadjutor of the diocese of Alabama delivered a particularly strong sermon at St. John's Episcopal church on the first Sunday of the Lenten services at which seven were confirmed. One of the largest audiences in the history of the local church was present to hear the interesting and instructive message of the minister. The musical programme was far above the average, being greatly inspirational. Communion service was held following the regular ceremony.

The seven who received the laying on of hands ceremony at the morning service were Susan Beech Garren, Anne Sophia Guyton Dorothy Frances Whaley, Mary Julia Warrick, Hilda Carpenter, Eugene Atlee Graves and Earnest Austin Tillery.

The Bishop's sermon, given in a well modulated and pleasing tone, was particularly strong. The theme dealt directly with the harboring of sin within ourselves, using as an illustration the story of David and his love of Bathsheba which finally resulted in the sinful taking of Bathsheba for his own after having sent her husband into the front of battle where he was slain. The Bishop called attention to those around David who knew of his sinful act and noted the fulfillment of the prophecy that he should be troubled all the days of his life. The speaker continued that the devil was never satisfied and until renounced he would continue to demand sinful living and sinful acts.

The church was filled to capacity and the special choir, led by Miss Dorothy Parsons, pleased with a well selected and appropriate hymnal service.

Bishop McDowell was accompanied by Reverend T. G. Mundy to Athens on Sunday afternoon where services were held.

—to regain Strength

—brings joy to you and your friends.

EVERY man, woman and child wants to have strength and correct weight. It means the joy of living. To be minus strength and underweight often proves, low fighting power in the body. It often means you are minus nerve-power, minus red cells in your blood, minus health, minus vitality. It is serious to be minus, but the moment you increase the number of your red-blood-cells, you begin to become plus. That's why S.S.S., since 1826, has meant to thousands of underweight men and women a plus in their strength. Your body fills to the point of power, your flesh becomes firmer, the age lines that come from thinness disappear. You look younger, firmer, happier, and you feel it, too, all over your body.

More red-blood-cells! S.S.S. aids Nature in building them by the million! There are no unproven theories about S.S.S., the scientific results of each of its purely vegetable medicinal ingredients are admitted by authorities. Begin taking S.S.S. today. It will give you more energy, vitality and vigor and a more up and going appearance.

S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

ANNIE LAURIE

Dear Annie Laurie:

1. If a boy should ask a girl to kiss him, should she frankly tell him that she didn't kiss boys or should she take it as a joke?

2. Should a lady speak to a young man before he speaks to her?

PEGGY:

1. Tell the young man that you do not do such things and that you do not feel that he is showing you the proper amount of respect when he asks such things of you. Your kisses should be given to the man that you are to marry and no other.

2. The young lady should always speak first. This does not mean that you are to speak to any man first, you are to be properly introduced and then you may speak when you meet.

Dear Annie Laurie:

I am a girl of sixteen and am in love with a handsome boy who I have been going with for about nine months and he seems to think a great deal of me.

Sometimes I think I am tired of him and want to stop him and go with some other boy though I don't know of any certain one that I care to go with.

Your advice will be appreciated.

Blue Eyed Betty

Blue Eyed Betty:

Why not go with several young men you are entirely too young to take the matter so seriously. Real love probably has not yet come to you. When it does you will not wish to see any other man.

Dear Annie Laurie:

I am a young man nineteen years of age. Two years ago I married a sweet little girl of only fifteen. Now I am only a common working man and have only a small home which I have paid for. When we first married we got along fine, would go to church every Sunday and go to the movies together. One year later a baby girl was born to us which made us very happy. We put all our time with the baby, as people will naturally do, and neglected to go out together and to church. While all this was going on her father was doing well in the grocery business. About this time my wife became dissatisfied and I couldn't get anything to please her. I tried to get her to go to the farm with me but she refused and we began to have disagreements and quarrels. Finally one day we had a quarrel in which we both said things that we shouldn't have said and I abused her. She went home to her parents, carrying our darling baby with her and now she is suing me for divorce. I have talked with her since and she has said that she does not want me to fight the divorce and says that if I don't that she will let me go with her again. I have apologized for the way that I have treated her and promised that I will never do such a thing again but she will not come back to me now but says she may some day. Lately I saw her with another man at the movies. I go with no other girls and do not wish to, but do you think that since she goes with other men that I would be doing right in going with other girls?

I do not wish to be single, I have no bad habits and I love a sweet home and want to live with her again. I love my wife and always will as long as I live. My wife says that she still loves me. Do you think that there could be a successful second marriage? Tell me the best way to win my wife back, should I go with other girls? Her parents do not like for me to even see the baby. Should I be in company with my wife in their presence? Should I object to her going with other boys before she gets her divorce?

Faithful Bill.

Faithful Bill:

You have committed an unpardonable act in abusing your wife and if for that reason and none other I shall be surprised if she returns to you. If you ever hope to have her return to you, do not go out with other girls although she is suing you for divorce. Second marriages have been successful and your wife and yourself should have consideration for the child that you love so well and prevent a divorce. This will only stain the name of the child that you both adore. If she comes back to you and make her as happy as you can, do not neglect her, live for your wife and your child. They are your responsibilities and you are to be able to provide for them. This unfortunate happening should teach you both a lesson in understanding one another's faults. I cannot see that you have a great deal to say about her going with other men although the vows that she has taken should prevent. If she loves you as she says that she does, she will come back to you and if you love her as you say you do you will see that everything in your power is done to make her life happy.

SINNERS IN HEAVEN

hands; then, with an effort, put her head to the test. "We shall soon be rescued? Ships are certain to—call here? It will only mean a few hours—or days?" The moment which Croft had dreaded, yet known to be inevitable, was at hand; and he felt the utter inadequacy of his sex in dealing with delicate situations.

From his prolonged silence Barbara guessed the truth of his convictions; words were unnecessary. She clasped her hands in agony, uttering a little moaning cry like some dumb animal receiving its death wound.

Croft turned quickly. He looked down at the quivering, girlish form, meeting the frightened eyes turned to him, trusting in his judgment and resource. And all at once he realized that, in this ghastly predicament, her very life lay in his hands. He leaned forward and took her clasped hands in both of his.

"Don't give up hope," he said earnestly. "It's very doubtful if ships call; but they may pass this way. We will do all we can."

She clung to his hands, breathing hard, seeming to find the old magnetism of his personality draw her up, deriving mental as well as physical support from his grip. Her eyes fixed upon his, as if searching for help. . . .

Suddenly, like a plucky ray of sunshine in a stormy sky, a faint smile flitted tremulously across her pale lips.

"We must—as you said—buck up," she whispered, the trembling words scarcely audible.

II

At mid-day the heat became excessive. Mercilessly the sun, like a quivering mass of molten steel, beat down upon the shore; no breath of wind stirred the hot air; the lagoon, with its almost indigo blue, assumed an oily, sluggish appearance, as if sinking to sleep with the lowering tide.

Within the shade of the angle formed by one side of the hut and the hill behind, Barbara lay inert upon a soft, if simple, couch of sun-dried coals. Finding that the ground swayed and rolled like a mountainous sea if she endeavored to rise, she gave up the attempt, and lay motionless, with closed eyes.

Nearby were some untouched bananas and a broken coconut, the shell of which was filled with water and placed upright between three stones. From within the hut came the noise of splashing sticks, as if somebody were breaking the bamboo canes which, crossed and interlaced, formed its structure.

The girl listened, wondering daily at the endurance of her companion, full of a miserable sense of shame at her own weakness. Without pausing for rest, after fetching their coats and procuring food, he had begun clearing and improving this dreary abode—carrying down broken portions from the ruins above for a door, fetching other canes and palm-leaves for mending the thatched roof.

Presently, hot and disheveled, he appeared. He had shed all his clothes except breeches and shirt, and looked, she thought, strangely in keeping with the scene around them. This was her first experience of a man whose life had been spent chiefly in wild surroundings, often upon but the fringe of civilization; whose abundant vitality responded to the call of untamed nature in a way that proved he had not been shackled by chains of convention closing around him, fetter by fetter, as the years passed.

"That's done!" he said briefly. He sat down and proceeded to peel and eat bananas with considerable relish. "I feel so useless!" she exclaimed, miserably. "Such a hindrance instead of a help. It would have been wiser to have left me in the water. You would get on better alone. We shall only die lingering deaths here, if rescue doesn't come."

"Dashed if I mean to die!" he protested, between two large mouthfuls of fruit. "Nor shall you!"

Throwing away his banana-skins, he rose and surveyed the water; then he came close to her, towering over her, as it seemed to her excited fancy.

"I'm going to try to reach the machine. I may be able to rescue our luggage and provisions."

"Oh! no, no, no!" she cried wildly. "Suppose you get drowned? Never mind luggage! What does that matter? Oh! don't leave me all alone!"

Terrified, she tried to reach some part of him, to restrain him by force. He caught her arms, raising her to her feet and supporting her.

"Listen!" he commanded in a tone which checked her agitation. "It's not only luggage! I want to save the wireless transmitting set—"

"Wireless!" Radiant relief overspread her face. "Why—the—we can soon get rescued after all?—I forgot about that!"

"You mustn't rely too much on it. It will be only the short range set. The long range used on board obtained its electrical energy from a generator run from one of the engines, and is therefore useless now."

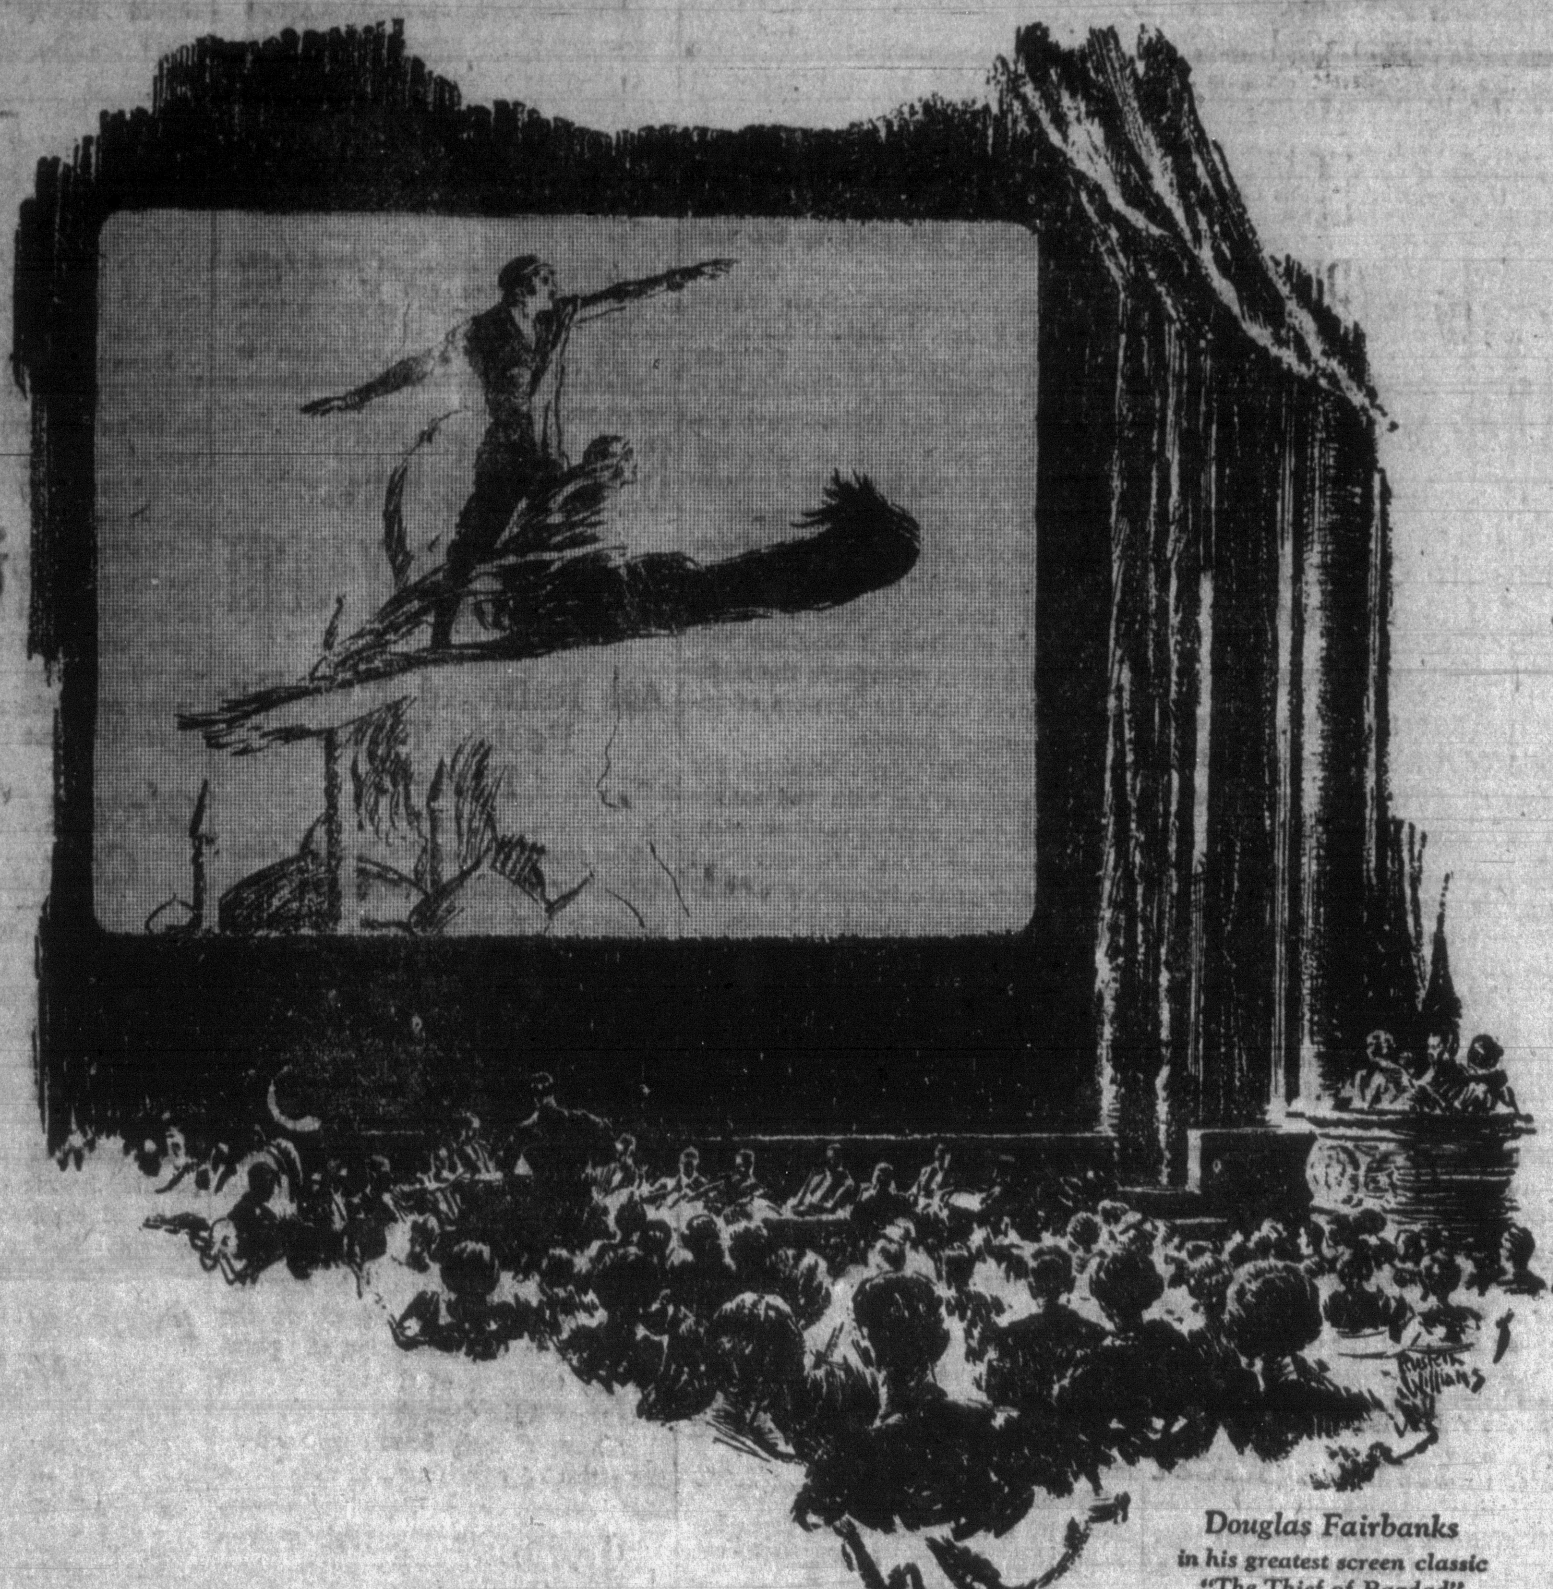

Her eagerness for this new hope to be tested was still modified by fears concerning the risks of his venture. He pointed out the shallowness of the water and the scattered little coral islands. "The tide's low enough now for me to wade to that one nearest the reef. From there it's quite a short distance, if swimming is necessary."

"I will wade with you—"

"The devil you won't!" He suddenly wheeled round upon her. "Look here! You're never to go in the lagoon! Bathe in the river, but don't ever go in the lagoon. Swear to me!" She gazed at him in stupefied amazement and anger.

"Why not? If—if you go in—" more successful, apparently, than the trip of the Tennesseans here. The leader of the Indiana group, after the return of the delegation to Indianapolis, issued a statement asserting that the conditions under which a compromise had been reached seems "favorable to our side of the case."

The visit of "Hal's Red Rose Brigade" here failed of its purpose, for the amendment was ratified by the necessary number of states and the measures giving women the right to vote went on the statute books of the nation.

The failure to prevent the ratification of the amendment, however, did not detract from the enjoyment which the legislators derived from their visit, for North Alabama, discarding all partisanship, opened wide its arms to the visitors and tried in every way possible to make their visit one long to be remembered by the Tennesseans.

Athens, under the leadership and inspiration of the late beloved Colonel Saunders, entertained the legislators at a watermelon cutting and later at a banquet in the historic halls of Athens college.

The citizens of the southern portion of Limestone county entertained them at a barbecue not far from Mooresville and Belle Mina. It was a day members of the delegation can still recall with enjoyment.

The Kiwanis club of Albany-Decatur had the visitors as guests of honor at one of the most interesting meetings that club ever held. The stunt committee for the evening fairly outshone all previous efforts to provide a program that was full of interesting features.

The circumstances which brought about the flight of the Tennessee legislators to Alabama never will arise again. It was an unexpected pleasure that this section had in entertaining their friends from Nashville, but if new conditions ever make another visit possible, the Twin Cities' gates are always open.

BIRMINGHAM MAY GO OUTSIDE OF POLITICS TO OBTAIN HER NEW CITY COMMISSIONERS

Disclaiming any desire to reflect in any manner on the commissioners who are governing Birmingham at present, the Southern Labor Review, a weekly periodical, whose editorial policies are controlled, to an extent, by representatives of a large number of labor organizations of the district, has launched a movement to "conscript four big, outstanding, successful men of affairs, who are willing to sacrifice four years of their lives to the betterment of the community in which they live."

Since the editorial appeared in the Labor Review some indications are given that there are many citizens of Birmingham, outside the organized labor circle, who would be quite willing to join such a non-partisan move.

It is rather singular that the suggestion for virtually drafting the four big "men of affairs" should come from the labor organizations of Birmingham. The fact that it does seem convincing that Birmingham citizens are growing tired of the wrangling (and worse) which has been marking the activities at the city hall for so long.

Birmingham's growth has been so rapid that the city officials probably have had problems to solve considerably more perplexing than those of less progressive communities. Just as the periods of rapid growth or unusual expansion in commercial enterprises, are periods fraught with the gravest dangers, so do communities, growing by leaps and bounds, require the very best talent available for the government boards and agencies.

During the past decade, Birmingham's officials probably have been as good as the average in any American city and some of the officials probably have been much better than the average. One could name, in fact several outstanding officials Birmingham has been pleased to call her own during these years. This, apparently, is not enough. Birmingham must have all of her officials of the very highest possible type.

Where officials of these talents may be found, the Southern Labor Review doesn't suggest. The weekly asserts it doesn't want to retire the present commissioners, simply "to let some other fellow have a chance at it." If this attitude is reflected by any considerable number of voters, Birmingham's forthcoming campaign, should provide real benefits to the community.

Birmingham may assume that the points in the state, outside the Magic City, are "butting in," when they evince an interest in Birmingham's community life, but that city is the largest in Alabama. The people look, more or less, to its as a leader. The prosperity of Birmingham is reflected in many ways in the prosperity of the state. The whole state of Alabama is vitally concerned in Birmingham. When another million dollar industry is located there the state is glad; when a new skyscraper is built there, the state-pride of Alabamians is expanded. Every citizen of Alabama has a friendly interest in Birmingham. What Birmingham, as a community, accomplishes has news value in every Alabama city, town and hamlet.

THE FUTURE LOOKS BRIGHT FOR LAWRENCE COUNTY

That Lawrence county is gradually coming into its own and is being recognized outside of the geographic boundaries of the county is evidenced by a lengthy editorial in an issue of the Albany-Decatur Daily last week. Owing principally to poor roads this county, which is composed of the best soil in the state of Alabama, has lain in a lethargic state ever since the Civil War. Year after year the farmers of this section have raised cotton, cotton, cotton, not because that was the only crop which the soil would produce profitably, but because it was the easiest crop to get to market over the poor roads. When the present highway program is completed, which will be in the near future, this section will have one of the best highway systems in the state. The road from Albany-Decatur through Moulton, Landersville, Mount Hope and on to Russellville cuts the county in the center east to west and taps the fertile valleys from Moulton east to the county line and the rich prairie lands to the west county line creating an outlet over which farmers can deliver all kinds of produce at any time of the year.

The road north from Moulton through Mountain Home to connect with the Muscle-Shoals-Decatur highway near Courtland and south from Moulton to the National Forest connecting with the scenic forest route through Double Springs, Jasper, and on to Birmingham, will eventually be the main tourist route between the Muscle-Shoals district and Birmingham, passing as it does within a few miles of the site of Dam No. 3 in the north part of the county and through the heart of the beautiful National Forest in the south.

The architectural beauty of the famous Wilson Dam and the wonders of the nationally known steel center of the Magic City will attract all tourists to these two points. Combine with this a few miles of the level, fertile fields of Lawrence county and the natural wild beauty of the National Forest, and we have a combination of attractions which cannot be equaled in so short a distance anywhere else in the United States and it will be the portion of the trip which will stand out strongest in the mind of every tourist from the North and will be the most talked of part of the trip when he returns home.—Moulton Advertiser.

BELOVED NEWSPAPER MAN HEARS THE FINAL CALL OF "THIRTY"

Prentiss Blackwell, beloved founder of The Florence Daily News, and former Twin City resident, has made up his last pages of life, laid aside the implements of his profession, and "thirty" has sounded for his earthly existence. To the hundreds of Twin City people who knew him only casually, his death was a shock, but to those who had been privileged to know him more intimately, his passing was a keen personal loss.

Ever active in progressive civic enterprises, Mr. Blackwell gave much to the upbuilding of Florence. He will be sadly missed in all walks of life. His was a nature which received enthusiastically any plan which had for its object the upbuilding of the Tennessee Valley, and he was ever willing to expend his time, his money or his talent in any enterprises calculated to make his adopted city and the Valley prosper as he would have had them prosper.

During the trying years since he founded The News, Mr. Blackwell ever urged his readers, upward and onward. His cheering voice will be missed in the civic councils of his community.

The Daily extends its deepest sympathy to the bereaved family and to his associates.

INDIANA SOLON'S JOURNEY INTO OHIO MORE SUCCESSFUL THAN TENNESSEAN'S

The visit of a group of Indiana senators to Ohio, in order to break a quorum and thwart the passage of a gerrymander bill, reminds the Florence Times of the visit, a few years ago, of certain Tennessee legislators here, in an effort to prevent the ratification of the Susan B. Anthony amendment. The Times says:

It will be recalled that several years ago a considerable group of the Tennessee legislature decamped from the capitol at Nashville and spent some time in Decatur, Alabama, in the effort to thwart certain legislation which they opposed, their absence preventing a quorum and being out of the state causing it to be impossible to arrest them and bring them to their duties. A somewhat similar instance was recorded yesterday in Indiana, when the democratic members of the state senate left hurriedly in a motor bus for an unknown destination in order to break a quorum and prevent their republican opponents from putting over what they claimed to be a Gerrymandering bill. The ways of legislators are devious, and this statement makes no exception in the case of Senator Norris, whose activities in the national senate are not confined to reason, propriety or decency.

The action of the democratic senators in Indiana was Every number indicates the beginning of a word—if horizontal, crosswise, until the first shaded stop to the right; if vertical, downwards until the first shaded stop below. Compare the synonyms in the appended lists to the spaces in the diagram and fill in the words you know. These will give you clues to the more difficult words. When completed the words should interlock perfectly.

YIELD AFFECTED BY THE TYPE OF SEED

Director of Tests Gives Report on Variety Experiments

AUBURN, Ala., March 2.—Special.—The yield of cotton on every acre planted this year will be determined to a marked degree by the variety of seed used. It has been known for many years that there was a wide difference in yields of varieties and experiments of recent years have served to increase the importance of planting seed of the high-yielding varieties.

A report by Prof. M. J. Funchess, director of tests conducted on the Experiment Station here last year showed a variation in yield from 427 down to 219 pounds of lint cotton per acre. This variation was due entirely to variety, all other conditions being the same. At the 23 cents a pound it represents a difference in value per acre of $47.84 on the lint alone, not counting the seed.

Along with an announcement of results of variety tests in 1924, Prof. Funchess summarized the standing of different varieties over a three-year period 1922-24 inclusive. In North Alabama Cook strains, Bottoms, Cleveland (Piedmont) and Acala yielded best over a three-year period. In two tests in that section last year Cook 1010, Cook 1627, Dixie Triumph, Cleveland (Piedmont) Cook 588, and Cook 307 were leading varieties. All tests other than those on the experiment station were conducted in co-operation with farmers in different

On the experiment station at Auburn, which is regarded as Central Alabama, Bottoms leads over a three year period, 1922-24, with 298 pounds of lint cotton. Others ranked: Cook 307-6; Dixie Triumph 286; Cleveland (Piedmont) 285; Cleveland (Wannamaker), 276; College No. 1 273; Acala, 272 and Cook 588, 271.

In 1924 the well-bred strains of Cook, Cleveland and Bottoms were leaders in two tests on the Experiment Station at Auburn.

During the three-year period, 1922-24, inclusive, the leading varieties in South Alabama tests yielded as follows: Cleveland (Piedmont) 383; Bottoms, 375; Acala No. 5, 360; College No. 1 254; Trice 270-41, 352; Cook 1010, 346; Mexican Big Boll, 344; Cook 588, 334; Several other varieties used with Caraswell.

were tested but all ranked below these. In 1924 Cook 1346 led in South Alabama tests with 502; Bottoms was second with 461; Cleveland (Piedmont) third with 460; Cook 1627, fourth with 416; and Mexican Big Boll, fifth with 411. All other varieties were below 400 pounds lint cotton per acre.

JUNIOR MUSIC STUDY CLUB

HOSTESS TO SENIOR CLUB

Saturday afternoon the Senior Music Study Club had the unique pleasure of being entertained by the Junior club at the beautiful new home of M. and Mrs. Herbert Hughes, that for the occasion was decorated with blooming potted plants. The guests were met at the door by little Miss Sara Sue Hughes.

Mrs. H. O. Truitt presided, calling for the programme at three. The occasion was too happy for business so the junior's opened their program with a beautiful waltz rendered by Miss Owen. With such an array of talent, the Senior club feels that the future music of the Twin Cities is assured. An "Arabesque" rendered by Miss Katherine Hunter, was one of the feature numbers. By special request dainty Eva Love Wyatt went to the piano and rendered a "March" in grown up style responding graciously with an encore.

Dainty refreshments were served at the close of the programme suggestive of good old St. Valentine.

OPEN DAY AT EAST SIDE COMMUNITY HOUSE

Just about thirty-five happy girls of all sizes with some interested mothers gathered at the Eastside Community house at 2:30 Saturday to greet those interested in social service work. The guests were met at the door by Miss Ellen Groendyke.

Programme

A happy Sunday school song was sung just to put everyone in the proper mood. Two large flags were draped over the organ where Mrs. W. A. Curry presided. "America" was sung, everyone standing. At the close of the national anthem, the children saluted the flag, then repeated the pledge of loyalty. Many passages of scripture were repeated in unison by the children whose faces reflected the happiness of their leaders who are living parts of the scripture. "Verily I say unto you inasmuch as ye have done it unto the least of these, my brethren, ye have done it unto me."

Those who have failed to take advantage of the opportunity to visit the little home have missed much.

The programme over, the work of the children was displayed. Those little pupils in so short a time had been taught to do creditable sewing. Some "Buster Brown" suits were on racks for sale that would have done credit to more experienced workmen. The girls show a decided leaning to quilt piecing an evidence of that home maker or domestic talent so often missing among more fortunate children, but just what America needs to cultivate that we may have better homes. The Kindergarten class was of great interest. The little chaps with heads bent over their work at tables were too busy to look up for the inspection of visitors.

PASTORS MEET THIS MORNING AT Y.M.C.A.

A Simultaneous Revival Is Discussed by Union

The Albany-Decatur Pastor's Union met at the Y. M. C. A. this morning at 10 o'clock for the discussion of plans concerning a proposed simultaneous revival to be participated in by all the churches of the cities. Reverend C. C. Davison delivered the principal address.

With Reverend James D. Hunter presiding in the absence of Reverend R. T. Lister, the meeting was opened with Pastors W. P. Reeves, C. C. Davison, Claude Orear, J. D. Wallace, Barnes and C. J. Randolph, secretary of the Y. M. C. A. present.

Reverend Davison spoke on "The Do's and Don'ts for Preachers." The speaker entered into all phases of the life of a pastor regarding spiritual, social and business relationship and the pastors duties and relationships within the church. The talk was instructive and broad in scope.

D. D. Burleson appeared before the Union against the spread of literature he characterized as "obscene." No definite step toward placing a ban on such literature was taken at this time.

In view of the circumstances that the Central Methodist church, Albany begins a revival campaign on March 29, the First Presbyterian church, Decatur on March 10, the Central Baptist church, Albany, March 29 and the First Baptist church, Decatur on April 19, it was thought best to allow the idea of a simultaneous revival go until next year.

The Union meets at the Y. M. C. A. on every Monday morning for the discussion of plans through which each religious organization can best cooperate for the welfare of all.

Two negro women were fined $26.60 each on a charge of driving and were placed in jail. These arrests were made by Thompson and Stewart.

Officers Hendrix and McCall brought in three cases charged with chicken theft. The fine was $26.60 in each case.

One case was fined $16.60 on a charge of driving on Second avenue without lights. J. G. Allison made the arrest.

Carolina University Moves Closer To Southern Cup; Tulane Looms Stronger

With the University of North Carolina Tarheels moving at a terrific rate towards a second southern basketball title the Southern Intercollegiate tourney being held at Atlanta is rapidly coming to a close. The University of Virginia, North Carolina State and Georgia Tech dropped from the race when they lost arguments with Ole Miss, Tulane and Louisiana U., respectively. The Tarheels defeated Georgia Tech by a count of 34-26 after Douglas Nycoff had done a bit of fancy shooting for 15 of his teams points. Ole Miss demonstrated a clear cut superiority over the Cavaliers of the University of Virginia 32-24. The old lominion iads grabbed an early lead but the Mississippians gathered steam and over came the margin gathering he laurel wreath in the closing stanza. Tulane, lead by E. Henican, downed the Carolina Wolf pack 41-24, one of the heaviest margins of the play thus far.

The University of Carolina while missing the services of the Carmichael brothers this year still has the service of Cobb, Dodgerer, Devin and McDonald. The latter has been named all southern guard for the past two years, despite his diminutive size. McDonald is one of the cleverest basketballers in the south and has been a deciding factor in dragging his team out from under the weight of many an invading onslaught.

Tulane University may pull the unexpected in basketball even as she spilled the Commodores one day last fall while the sun rays beat down on a bewildered Vanderbilt eleven. Tulane has played two games thus far and enter the semi-finals with an array that is famed for running up heavy scores. First the Greengens defeated the Generals of Washington and Lee with a one sided score and then they repeated against the Carolina State five a team that was reputed to be well among the leaders. From all present indications the play off will be between the University of North Carolina and Tulane although Georgia and Ole Miss can be counted upon to be hard to send to the bottom.

Gossip from his old home state has it that all the argument about the retirement of the worlds heavyweight champion is nothing but "bunk." Jack Dempsey declared in an interview that he expects to fight Tommy Gibbons of St. Paul in his next battle and that is slated for this summer. Harry Wills has again been disqualified by the boxing commission and it isn't likely that they will give him a chance to eliminate the punch absorbing Gibbons.

Dempsey is in Salt Lake city having arrived there with his bride Estelle Taylor from Los Angeles.

Birmingham-Southern won their place in the S. I. A. A. basket contests in Macon when they defeated Newberry college 25-20. The first half of the game was a listless affair with Southern leading at the half by a 10-5 margin.

At the opening of the second half both teams took on new life and played one of the best games of the entire series, Southern managing to retain the five point lead while the Newberry folks piled up an even number of points. Caldwell, Englebert, forwards, Kimbrough, center, Price and Hall guards, was the lineup that the Birmingham college used.

Moon Ducote of Auburn fame back in the years when the Plainsmen were in their prime has signed to appear in southern league livery during the summer months. Ducote will again play with Mobile. In the winter, "Moon," does coaching chores at Loyola University.

DECORAS TRAMPLE UPON THE RAILROAD BOWLERS

The Decoras, with blood in their eyes, trampled upon the Railroaders Friday night in bowling at the Y M C A and cleaned up four points, which places them in the lead at present for championship of the present tournament. However, the Bear Cats, running second, and the Business Men, running third, have a good chance to win out. It all depends upon the points they win next week, Smith and the points the Decoras lose. There is a possibility of these three teams going tied for first place, in which event special matches will have to be run next week to decide the tie.

Speake of the Decoras, with all his senses alert last night, bowled the record high singles score of the season, making 207 pins, thus putting David Jones out of the running at present for individual prize. Jones has held the high singles record for some three weeks past with a 201 score. Watch Jones next week. Teams bowling Monday night will be the Business Men vs. the Railroaders.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious lung trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with twofold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germ.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by the medical fraternity as the greatest healing agency for the treatment of chronic coughs and colds and other forms of throat and lung troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to consumption.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and lung diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or the flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist for Creomulsion Co., Atlanta, Ga.

SHERLOCK GIVES DOC WATSON AN IMPORTANT TIP-OFF

"Examine this cigar, Watson," said the Great Detective. "Beautifully made, of the finest perfecto leaf. A thoroughbred cigar in every way—BUT IT HAS NOTIP!"

"Now this missing tip, Doctor, is a mighty sweet 'tip-off' for cigar smokers. It makes no difference in the quality, but a whale of a difference in the price!"

"For, putting the tip on a cigar costs like sin. Leaving it off is the good sense thrift that makes the good cents saving."

"Get that bouquet! Mel-low, full-flavored, smooth as silk. You'll go a long way for a better smoke."

"But the baffling mystery, my dear Watson, is really no mystery at all. It's the 'tip-off' that brings four of these fragrant 4 1/4-inch Old Virginias to you for one thin dime."

New Way to Quickly Stop Dangerous Cough

It is almost criminally careless not to properly attend a persistent cough, which by seriously weakening the system lays you open to far more dangerous infections. For by a very simple treatment you can stop the coughing spells almost instantly and often relieve the stubbornest cough in 24 hours.

This simple treatment is based on a remarkable prescription known as Dr.
King's New Discovery for Coughs. You simply take a teaspoonful and hold it in your throat for 15 or 20 seconds before swallowing it, without following with water. The prescription has a double action.
It not only soothes and heals soreness and irritation, but it quickly loosens and removes the phlegm and congestion which are the direct cause of the coughing. The prompt relief of the heaviest cough seems almost magical.

The prescription is highly recommended for coughs, chest colds, hoarseness and bronchitis, and is wonderful for children's coughs and asthmatic croup—no opiates or other harmful drugs. Economical, too, as the dose is only one teaspoonful. At all good druggists. Ask for

Hartselle News

Another grade A dairy has been added to the dairying interests of this county. Mr. L. O. Suggs, who owns a large farm a few miles southwest of here has recently completed a modern dairy barn, and has bought a splendid lot of dairy cows, and announces that he will begin March 1, delivering milk and butter to Hartselle, Albany and Decatur.

For sometime Mr. Suggs has been interested in dairying on a small scale, trying it out thoroughly before launching finally into the business, and has been a shipper of cream for sometime.

His place is admirably suited for a business of this character, well watered, and special attention being paid to pasturage.

He is a progressive young business man, and believes that there is room for a progressive dairy, and makes the announcement that his dairy barn is open for inspection at any time.

With the advent of Mr. Suggs into the dairying business, makes three commercial dairies outside of Albany-Decatur.

Postmaster S. L. Sherrill left Saturday for Washington, D. C., to be present at the inauguration of President Coolidge. He will be absent several days, and on his return will visit points in Virginia.

The initial service ushering in a week of prayer, was held at the First Baptist church Sunday afternoon at three p. m. A special program was rendered at that time, consisting appropriate talks, songs, etc. Another meeting will be held Wednesday night at which time both men and women members of the church will participate. Every day during the present week, the women of the church will hold prayer services each afternoon at the church.

A meeting of the Hartselle W. C. T.
U. will be held Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. R. G. Owen.

Mrs. J. D. Weems and little son have returned from Austinville after several days spent there with Mrs.
Weems' mother.

Several cars of cotton seed have been shipped from this point this week. The rise in the price of cotton has caused several holders here to turn loose large lots of cotton, it bringing 25c and better.

T. R. Rynn made a business trip to Albany-Decatur Saturday afternoon.

T. E. Crittendon has just completed a nice nine room home on the west side of town. Builders of homes have had no difficulty in renting them as soon as completed, and the demand for more of them.

It is very probable that a county fair will be held here this fall, and the matter is now being agitated. Should one be held, the opinion of those close to those in authority in the matter is that it will be one of the very best.

Commercial fertilizer has begun to arrive on this market, and some sales are being reported daily by dealers.
Judging by what is seen and heard,
there will be a large lot of fertilizer used the present year, and also a large acreage will be planted to cotton.

Frank A. Merriweather, for the past several years manager of the J. H.
Calvin Grocery Co., at this point, left

Sunday for Sheffield where he goes to open up a wholesale grocery company having formed a partnership with C.
D. Carter, also a manager of one of the Calvin stores at Russellville.

Mr. Merriweather has many friends here who are sorry to see him leave Hartselle and wish for him unbounded success in his new field.

Mr. Chas. Y. Quinn is in charge of the Calvin store here, since the departure of Mr. Merriweather.

H. M. Parker an attache of the L. and N. freight department here, left Saturday for a similar position at Oxmoor, Ala. Since coming here Mr.
and Mrs. Parker have made many friends who are sorry to see them leave.
